

Dr. Nolan Lee:

There's unscrupulous people who will take advantage of this population because they're in such pain and they're so motivated to do something about it, offering things that don't help. They've tried everything under the sun. They've tried it all.

Dr. Nolan Lee:

There are not any truly effective therapies out there that currently are known for neuropathy. They've tried everything from drugs. They even give anti-depressive medicines to patients to deal with the pain. Pain drugs are kind of the first line of defense when it comes to neuropathy. People have tried everything from electrical stimulation to acupuncture, to surgical remedies, depending on what kind of neuropathy they have. Most of the times, it's drugs, but people will try things like CBD cream or massages. I mean, they try everything and nothing helps. That's their problem.
